Call for participation – who can apply and get a chance to win 75,000 Swiss francs?

The Swiss Medtech Award honours outstanding achievements in the Swiss medical technology industry. The prize recognises products or solutions that demonstrate a clear patient benefit.

We are looking for:

- innovative products or solutions in the field of medical technology or
- pioneering technologies or procedures that are used in a medical product.

Factual criteria:

- The effect and benefit of the applicant's product, technology or procedure can be demonstrated with completed patient studies and/or
- The product already has market approval and is available on the market or it is about to be certified and market entry is in preparation.

Formal criteria:

- Applicants are companies or research institutions with their headquarters in Switzerland and a substantial part of the service provision in Switzerland.
- Applicants have submitted their dossier on time and in full. This includes completing the online questionnaire and submitting the requested additional documents.
